Thanks. I have added that to the information. I will attach the information to the meeting invite now, so everyone has the same information.

PFOS and PFOA were detected in a city water supply well in 2016, and it has since been abandoned. The contaminants were also found in some private wells. I don't have numbers on how many. The PRPs dispute that the landfill is the source, because the concentrations of PFOS and PFOA are higher downgradient than they are at the landfill.

I don't think you can. You can just write some comments, send to me, and I can add it.
